

Handwritten text in a stylized, pixelated font, possibly representing a name or a signature. The characters are thick and blocky, with some variations in shading (black and grey) suggesting a digital or scanned appearance. The text is arranged in a single line and is highly stylized, resembling a custom font or a specific handwriting style.