RTG Travel Funds

The mathematics department has limited funding that graduate and undergraduate students can use to go to conferences, workshops, summer schools, etc. in any area of pure math covered by the RTG grant. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis and will be reviewed on the 1st of every month. Applications will be reviewed by Priyam Patel.

Applicants should submit the following materials via email:

- a letter justifying the travel, including a rough budget with explanations,
- a recommendation letter from a faculty member (an informal email to Priyam would suffice), and
- any relevant supplemental material (conference invitation etc.).

The committee will make a decision within the first week of every month and the applicant (as well as the letter writing faculty) will be notified via email regarding the results, including the amount of the award if successful. We particularly encourage applications from individuals who are presenting original research, or who are attending events focused building a community or mentorship networks. We also encourage individuals from marginalized groups in mathematics to apply. Due to limited funding, each applicant is limited to $500 per year from this source.
